Testimony:

Many years ago the neighborhood commissioners did not have a clue as to how the board operated. None of them had ever served on a board. Then it was determined a certain number of commissioners had to have served one the boards. Unfortunately, the city appointed active board members, which was not the intent. Active board members have an inherent conflict of interest. If Mr. Smith will resign from his board upon appointment to the commission, I have no problem. He needs to make a choice. Either the board or the commission.
