Testimony

I support ocean safety having their own department especially with the number of rescues increasing in just the last year, the lifeguards need their own resources and better budgeting specific to ocean safety to help eith the public safety. They risk their lives to save lives everyday, just like a fireman a policeman or an EMT.. we have a dept for everything else but the ocean is bigger than any other area and with that should come a separate dept. just like all other first responders. Ocean safety services deserve better representation and more support and should have their own dept to maximize their efforts throughout
