EXPERIENCE

SR ASSOCIATE PLANNER, HHF PLANNERS, HONOLULU, HAWAI'I

2008-PRESENT

I came to HHF Planners with a strong background in cultural resource management and a renewed interest in the cultural power of place after graduate studies at UH Mānoa. Since joining the firm, I've leveraged this skillset to support a variety of projects while continuing to expand my planning experience. I played an integral role in researching and then managing several cultural landscape assessments and reports as well as Historic American Landscapes Surveys. I have continued to support environmental assessments with knowledge gained from conducting cultural impact assessments and historic preservation documentation. And finally, I broadened my planning experience by taking on managerial roles with facility plans, master plans and climate resilience plans.

CULTURAL RESOURCE MANAGER, ETHNOGRAPHER, CULTURAL SURVEYS HAWAI'I, KAILUA, HAWAI'I

1996-2004

Starting in the trenches with archaeological data collection and monitoring and not knowing which way was north and south, I quickly learned the basics. I transitioned to conducting cultural impact assessments for planning documents including initial phases of planning, scoping for contacts, gathering ethnographic information, overseeing historical research, interpretation and writing reports. Meanwhile, I continued to assist in field studies, and laboratory analysis of archaeological material. Throughout the time spent at Cultural Surveys, I gained valuable experience in burial mitigation planning and Hawai'i State and Federal laws pertaining to archaeological preservation.
